

Decree Of Canonical Parish Merger
Immaculate Conception Parish, Baltimore City
New All Saints Parish
Effective December 1, 2024

Beginning in September of 2022, I initiated an extensive process of listening, visioning and discernment regarding the future of this parish and others in the City of Baltimore and the surrounding areas. The general public, parish leadership and individual parishioners were invited to attend a series of public meetings to advise me on the best future for these parishes. More than 6,000 persons participated in the two-year process. An initial proposal for reconfiguration that was prepared by 250 lay and clergy leaders was made public in March of 2024. Two public meetings were held after this announcement to receive feedback from individual parishes and individual parishioners regarding the initial proposal. All have also been given the opportunity to provide their views to me by mail, email or individually throughout the process.

In regard to the proposed merger of Immaculate Conception parish and New All Saints parish, the members of Immaculate Conception parish have been part of this process through the submission of surveys, participation in open, prayerful discussions and by providing input at visioning sessions. Meetings were also held with parish leadership from both parishes before a final decision was made. After additional changes were made based on the feedback received from that process, the final proposal was made public on May 22, 2024.

The Presbyteral Council and Archdiocesan Finance Council (BOFA) were asked for feedback on both the initial proposal in April 2024 and final proposal in May 2024 for the above-referenced merger prior to their final canonical review of the proposed plan. In accordance with canons 50, 120 §1, 121 and the requirements of canon 515 §2, the proposal to canonically merge Immaculate Conception parish into New All Saints parish was formally presented to the Presbyteral Council on September 3, 2024, for the required canonical consultation. After reviewing and discussing the materials related to the canonical merger, the members gave their unanimous support to the proposal.

The following facts regarding Immaculate Conception parish constitute the reasons, in summary, for the canonical merger of Immaculate Conception parish into New All Saints parish (canon 51):

- The general number of persons residing in the boundaries of Immaculate Conception parish has declined by 14% since 2000;
- The number of Catholic households registered in the parish boundaries has declined from 215 in 2004 to fewer than 113 in 2019, with only 28 of these Catholic households currently registered at Immaculate Conception parish;
- The number of parishioners attending Mass at Immaculate Conception parish on a weekly basis has declined from 196 in 2004 to 44 in 2023;
- 62% of the parishioners (27 persons) are over the age of 50;
- Immaculate Conception parish has had a total of 24 baptisms, 2 confirmations, and 3 marriages between 2014 and 2023;
- There have been no children in faith formation in the parish since 2017;
- Immaculate Conception parish church had to be closed due to the parish's inability to financially maintain the site;
- Immaculate Conception parish has had an operating deficit for 17 of the last 20 years;
- There are 14 other parishes located within 2 miles of Immaculate Conception parish;
- Immaculate Conception parishioners currently meet 2 miles (3.2 kilometers) from New All Saints parish;
- Immaculate Conception parish and New All Saints parish serve parishioners of the same history and culture; and
- New All Saints parish has the facilities to be able to welcome the parishioners of Immaculate Conception parish and their ministries.

From these facts, considered as whole, it is my opinion that left to itself, Immaculate Conception parish will only continue to decline with the resultant diminishing of pastoral ministry and sacramental life. Merging with New All Saints parish will allow the greatest opportunity to continue and even strengthen the ministries which are presently offered for the parishioners of Immaculate Conception parish.

Having heard all who have an interest in this matter, including the opinion of the members of the Presbyteral Council who were properly convened according to law and voted on this matter in my presence, I believe the reasons listed above in this decree establish a just cause for the canonical merger of the Immaculate Conception parish into New All Saints parish. As a result, I do hereby decree that Immaculate Conception parish is to be canonically merged into New All Saints parish, Baltimore effective, December 1, 2024.

The boundaries of New All Saints parish shall reflect the current outside boundaries of the two parishes as of the date of the canonical merger.
